What happens to my workplace pension when I leave my employer?

We're here to support you, even after you leave your employer.

Whilst you can no longer contribute to your employer's plan, and your employer's contributions will automatically stop, you can continue making individual contributions into your TargetPlan account. If you want to do this, please get in touch using the contact details below.

Your savings in the plan will remain invested in your account until you're ready to take your benefits. The earliest you can access your pension under current legislation is age 55 (increasing to age 57 on 6 April 2028). Please remember, the value of an investment can fall as well as rise and isn't guaranteed. The value of your pension pot when you come to take benefits may be less than has been paid in.

Alternatively, you can transfer the value of the pension pot in your account to another pension provider. Transferring a pension may not be the best option for you. You may lose features, protections, guarantees or other benefits – so make sure you compare products before transferring. It's up to you to decide if this is the right decision for you. If you're not sure, speak to a financial adviser – there may be a charge for this. If you don't have a financial adviser, you can visit moneyhelper.org.uk/choosing-a-financial-adviser to find the right one for you.
